Instruction: write a good English essay on ONE of the following topics. You are NOT allowed to use any dictionary or access the Internet for help:

1. You've decided to donate all your good organs in case you die in an accident. State your reasons for your decision and tell us why you think others should do the same.
2. You've decided not to donate your organs in case you die in an accident. State your reasons for your decision and tell us why you think others should do the same.
3. Like many other college students in Taiwan, NTU students are required to meet the English threshold requirement before they can graduate. Explain why this requirement is reasonable, or why you object to it. In your opinion, how is English best taught in the undergraduate curriculum?
